Prides Past

just went, 'Uh, uh' for awhile."

Shannon went on to come out publicly and to earn almost universal praise for her bravery and integrity—even from her father.

But even the most serious activists have some pretty silly Pride memories.

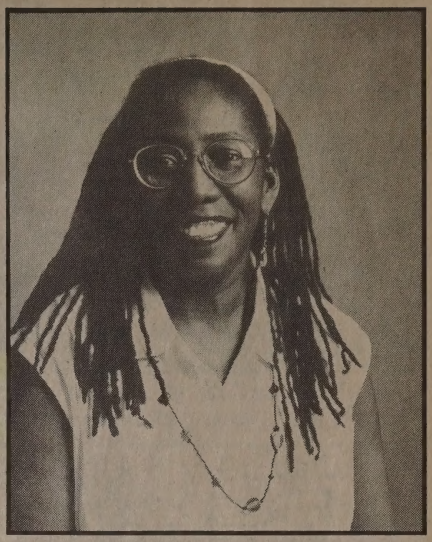
Take Joan Garner. As a senior advisor on lesbian and gay issues to ex-Mayor Jackson, the former chair of the Lambda Community Center, a former officer of the African American Lesbian Gay Alliance and Executive Director of the Fund for Southern Communities, she's usually on activism's leading edge.

Her favorite Pride moment?

"Well I tell you what was really exhilarating for me was riding on the fire truck year before last. I thought that was great," she says, her voice lilting. "It was such a neat thing to be riding on a fire truck. That's the kid in me coming out."

Pride, of course, brings out more in Garner than just her kid.

"I had been out for eight years before that [1991],



Joan Garner: "It was such a neat thing to be riding on a fire truck. That's the kid in me coming out."

but I had never attended a Pride. I had heard about it, but I was never into the Atlanta political scene. And none of my friends had talked about it."

Seeing so many other lesbians and gay men was

How to have French Roast with your French Toast.

Coffeehouses serve great coffee, but restaurants serve hot breakfasts—why do you have to choose? Murphy's now offers Vivace Coffee from Seattle's oldest and finest coffee roaster. Twice each week just-roasted coffee beans are air-freighted to Murphy's, then fresh ground each day. So your espresso is el fresh-o.

And nobody does hot breakfasts like Murphy. From omelettes to pancakes, sausages to grits—you can have it all.
